Privacy Statement for HUAWEI Ads

Last updated: August 18, 2020

HUAWEI Ads may use user data such as interests and characteristics to deliver targeted and personalized ads to users.

To show you the ads that you are interested in, Weed Pinball will collect and process the following information of yours and share it with third-party advertising service platforms for the preceding purpose only:

- Device and usage information: device ID, operating system settings, device hardware information, basic app information and app usage information, network information, mobile carrier information, and HUAWEI ID.
- Ad interaction information: information about ad browsing, clicking, closing, and playing, as well as the time when you start or exit the app, app usage frequency, and app error logs.
- Location information: We will collect, use, and process the fuzzy or accurate location information of your device. The location information is obtained through the GPS, WLAN, and network ID of your service provider. The Weed Pinball app will request your location-based service permission. You can disable the permission on your device from the device settings menu to reject sharing your location information.
